January 2013

Dear Alicia,

President's Message

In the spirit of our wonderful organization...shalom, aloha, hola, greetings, ciao, ellohay, blessings, hello, Kóyo, xin chào!

It is always a little hard returning from the holiday season. I trust you and your families enjoyed the break, because now we get to hit the ground running to prepare for the upcoming election cycle. Since the last newsletter, our Chapter met in Richardson on January 9. I want to commend the "weather warriors", borrowed from Mr. Murray, for making it to the City of Richardson. I also extend my gratitude to Aimee Nemer and City Manager Dan Johnson for hosting and making each of us feel welcome in their city.

Our guest speaker Scott Murray did a phenomenal job and I know my wrap up of the meeting will not do him justice. Mr. Murray shared how we can achieve peace, prosperity and perfection with the Pyramid of Power. At the top of the pyramid is our purpose. In order to build and see our purpose to fruition we begin with the foundation blocks (characteristics) of passion, preparation, perseverance and positivity. We need to nurture our purpose so we reinforce our foundation with our ability to produce solid and professional works that will make us and those who work with us proud. We are not in the boat alone and at times our purpose is shared with others so our partnerships (relationships) with our team members (personal or professional) and our guiding principles is the mortar that holds and keeps our pyramid strong. Sometimes it is not easy doing the right thing, but if we keep our eye on the goal we can achieve our purpose (goal).

One thing Mr. Murray mentioned that I will remember is that our success is based on having the right stuff and cultivating relationships. I encourage you to keep the below acronym close to your heart.

R - Relationships, Respect, Responsibility
I - Impactful, Influence
G - Gratitude, Graciousness

I'm telling you...good stuff was shared at our January meeting. In keeping with integrity, I will share with you Jon Stigliano's (former speaker) definition of integrity. To have integrity, a person must base his/her actions upon a well-thought out framework of moral principles. What he/she does should be the same as what he/she says. So let me ask you...do your actions match what you say?

Let's keep our Chapter strong! I look forward to seeing you in Watauga on February 20th. Additional information on our guest speaker is included in the newsletter.

As a reminder, we are implementing a new outline for our meetings to allow members sufficient time to network with one another.
